Patron Capital shortlisted at Beacon Awards

Keith Breslauer, Patron Capital's Managing Director, has been shortlisted in the Outstanding partnership between a philanthropist and charity category at the 2017 Beacon Awards, in recognition of his work with the Royal Marines Charity (RMC).

In its tenth year, the Beacon Awards celebrate exceptional philanthropists who are making a difference to society through strategic and inspirational philanthropic investments of time, knowledge and resources.

Keith has worked with the Royal Marines Charity since 2010, helping hundreds of Marines, and their families, to rebuild their lives following physical and psychological injury. He has helped to contribute approximately £800,000 to the charity, through donations, events and other fundraising efforts, including frequent participation in sponsored extreme sports and endurance feats. He also uses his industry contacts to provide opportunities for the charity within the business community and to find work placement opportunities for war veterans readjusting to civilian life.

Keith Breslauer, Managing Director of Patron Capital, commented:

"The Royal Marines Charity is an incredible organisation and I am extremely proud to support the life-changing work they do to help veterans."

"I believe that giving back should be about more than writing a cheque. At Patron, we have worked closely with the RMC to not only help the charity raise significant funds, but also to create opportunities for ex-servicemen and women to re-enter the corporate world, through valuable introductions and organising mentoring, placements, workshops and events, to help them rebuild their lives."

"Working with the RMC is extremely rewarding and my colleagues and I look forward to our continued relationship with the charity."
